I-275 becomes skater's paradise

Nobody has to tell how difficult it was to navigate your automobile last Thursday and Friday during the height of the "Blizzard of '78". Numerous cars were buried in snow drifts while others fortunately were able to crawl along the highways at a snail's pace. But one innovative fellow, Tim Brown, an ANP advertising salesman, found the best way to go was on ice skates. The 25-year-old Brown, who lives in Belleville, got out his skates Friday when the going got rough and was snapped by ANP photographer Tom Greenwood as he glided gracefully along on the northbound lane of I-275. He didn't run into any other cars or carefree guys on ice skates.

Ed Baum quits athletics

Friends of Ed Baum will honor the long-time Romulus High School athletic director with an "Appreciation Night" during half-time ceremonies at Friday night's basketball game between Alpena and Romulus.

Jesse Merriweather, who is heading the celebration, reports that many of Baum's former high school athletes will return for the occasion. Also, many city and school dignitaries plan to honor Baum with their presence.

Baum, 53, will retire as athletic director after 21 years of service at Romulus High School. Although he will leave his connection with sports for the first time since his graduation from Eastern Michigan University in 1950, he will remain as assistant principal at Romulus South Jr. High.

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley is sending a representative with a proclamation from the city to honor Baum. Former Romulus Community Schools Supt. Robert McCorenghi will say a few words as will present superintendent, James Garfield.

Also saying a few words will be the wife of the late Harold Cass, a very close friend of Baum's, who came into the school system about the same time.

Oscar Butler, head of the commercial food program at the high school, will serve refreshments in the Romulette Room after Baum is presented with gifts.

Baum, who came to Romulus High School in 1957 as a teacher and track coach, taught and coached at Port Austin, Mich., from 1950-53 and at Gladwin High School from 1953-57.

The sickness of his father caused him to seek a position closer to this area in 1957.

"My greatest satisfaction comes from seeing students go on to make something of their lives," Baum said.

Ed and his wife, Naomi, have six children. Michael, 28, is married and coaches the Taylor Kennedy junior varsity basketball team. Debbie, 27, is married and lives in Midland.

Bill, 26, is single and teaches in Idaho; Brenda Mann, 21; lives and works as a cosmetologist in Taylor; and Greg, 13, attends seventh grade at St. Alfred School in Taylor, also the home city of the Baum's.

Council backs mayor on renaming airport, post office for city

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley has been battling hard the past few weeks to obtain a new post office for the city and to get Detroit Metropolitan Airport's name changed to Romulus International Airport.

Oakley got the council's unanimous backing last week on a resolution to seek the new post office. He also received six of seven council members' votes in seeking to change the name of the airport which is located in Romulus.

However, council member Beverly McAnally spoke out strongly against having the local airport changed to Romulus International Airport.

"If I thought there was any chance of the name being changed, I certainly wouldn't want to do anything in a negative way," Mrs. McAnally told the Romulus Roman this week.

"I've thought about it for a long time now — for a number of years. And if it would engender pride in our community, it would be a good idea, but I'm not so sure it would be a good reflection on the city."

Mrs. McAnally, now entering her fifth year on city council, has been active in numerous organizations in Romulus for many years. Presently, she is active on a number of committees that deal on local, county and state levels and sees little success of getting Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport's name changed to Romulus International Airport.

"Even if we were successful in getting the name changed to Romulus International Airport, there are many negative aspects which may outweigh the positive," she pointed out.

"For instance, there are muggings, dope-busts, robberies and even the dumping off of dead bodies in the vicinity of the airport. That certainly wouldn't be a positive thing or engender pride in our city if Romulus was named as the location for that kind of thing."

Mrs. McAnally, whose husband is employed by one of the airlines, travels a lot by air and does not expect the Wayne County Road Commissioners will change the name.

She also feels that perhaps naming the air facility after a famous statesman, such as Philip Hart, Hubert H. Humphrey or even Harry Truman, might be more in order. She said Romulus might be more successful in the long run if the airport was named after a famous statesman.

"First of all, Wayne County Road Commission has far-reaching ambitions as evidenced by their acquisition of Willow Run Airport. And I don't think it would phase them one bit if they made all of Romulus just one big landing field," she said disdainfully.

"I don't think Coleman Young (Detroit's mayor) would let the Road Commission change the name. But even if we were successful in taking it away from Detroit and Wayne County (by renaming it Romulus International Airport), their publicists could make it sound bad by naming Romulus as the location where these unfortunate incidents took place."

The outspoken council member feels it's going to take a great amount of effort on the part of Oakley to see the name change accomplished — and she doesn't think the efforts will be successful.

She said there are other areas that need the mayor's attention a lot more at this time.

"I'd like to see the mayor extend his efforts in a winning battle. I'm not sure that even if we are successful in renaming the airport that we would be pleased with the net result," she concluded.

Meanwhile, buoyed by support from six members of the City Council, Oakley will be working harder than ever to see his two goals accomplished — obtaining a new post office and changing the flight facility's name to Romulus International Airport.

Heavy snow, high winds hit area

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Mayor William M. Oakley declared a "snow emergency" in Romulus Thursday when the Blizzard of '78 dumped 12 inches of snow on the city and paralyzed it in its icy white grip.

Romulus, like the rest of Michigan, was under a "red alert" which restricted driving to emergencies only.

Winds up to 35 miles an hour buried cars and trucks all over the city and drifting snow made some Romulus roads impassable. The city came to a virtual standstill.

Nearby Detroit Metro Airport was closed Thursday for only the second time in four years and no flights came in or out for more than 18 hours. Even though two of the four airport runways were open by Friday afternoon, only one was being used because of high winds.

Airport officials reported only a small backlog of flights Friday afternoon but urged travelers and visitors to check with airlines before going to the airport because the blizzard all across the eastern portion of the country was disrupting schedules.

I-94 was open from Detroit to Ann Arbor but exits into that city were impassable. However, the expressway was slippery and treacherous in places, authorities reported. Portions of the southern end of I-275 were reported closed during the worst part of the storm.

To make matters worse around Metro Airport, Romulus officials reported that the hotels and motels in the Merriman Road-Wickham area were without power for several hours Thursday.

As part of Oakley's snow emergency declaration, an emergency shelter was set up at the recreation center on Bibbins and Shook. It was manned by Mayor Oakley, his wife, Mary, City Clerk Leonard Folmar and other members of the administrative staff.

Coffee, snacks and warm blankets were provided to some 15 persons needing help. The shelter was in operation from 5 p.m. Thursday until 2 a.m. Friday.

Helping also were Jim and Judy Dennett and members of their CB radio club which cooperated with "Starship Command" in monitoring motorists' distress calls for the Wayne County Sheriff's patrol.

Large sections of Romulus were without electric power for parts of Thursday, Thursday night and Friday. Included in those blacked out, unheated areas were Wyndcliff Subdivision, north of I-94 and east of Wayne Rd.; and Huron River Estates, west of Huron River Drive and west of I-275 in the southwest part of Romulus.

Mayor Oakley's house was without power for several hours Thursday as Tobine Street was hit with an

Work around the clock

Romulus volunteer firemen and D.P.W. workers were called the real heroes in the "battle of the blizzard" Thursday as they worked to keep city roads clear and the residents safe.

Mayor William Oakley, Fire Chief John Wilhide and D.P.W. Director Dave Paul all highly praised the men for "their heroic role in working around the clock to keep the seriousness of the situation to a minimum."

When Oakley declared a snow emergency for the city Thursday, he placed all volunteer firemen on a 24-hour alert. The firemen manned all four Romulus fire stations throughout the night on rotating shifts.

The fire fighters also used their snowmobiles and four-wheel drive vehicles for rescue purposes. And two Romulus residents had to be picked up by the rescue squad Thursday.

The two residents, one suffering from congestive heart failure and the other from a collapsed lung, were rescued from Metro Trailer Park and Royal Village Mobile Home Park on Van Born Road.

"I'm very proud of my men and their dedication to duty and the value they place on human lives," Wilhide said after the snow emergency had been lifted.

Wilhide said his trucks were continually being called out to check out downed power lines that were "arcing" close to houses. "We got quite a few calls for help," he said.

Wilhide said he and Mayor Oakley received phone calls Friday that residents of Metro Trailer Park on Van Born Road were completely snowed in. When fire department officers arrived on the scene, they found the trailer park as described and the roads impassable.

The trailer park manager gave a quick call to the owner in California who told him to do whatever was necessary to clean the streets. The entrance was blocked Friday at 9 p.m. I again at 11 p.m., when fire department officers checked.

However, front-end loaders and other snow removal equipment were working to clear the streets early Saturday morning and Wilhide described the situation as normal Saturday afternoon.

Meanwhile, D.P.W. workers were working gallantly under miserable condition to keep the city roads passable. Two crews of 10 men each worked 12-hour shifts around the clock Thursday and Friday to keep traffic arteries open and moving.

"This was the second worst storm the D.P.W. has encountered since I

Oakley also praised Romulus volunteer firemen and D.P.W. workers for "their heroic role in working around the clock to keep the seriousness of the situation to a minimum."

became director in 1973," said Paul, who stayed up all night Thursday to oversee conditions.

The worst storm, he pointed out, was back in 1974 when 19 inches of snow fell in a 24-hour period.

Paul, like Wilhide, was proud of the way his men worked strenuously to clear the streets. The D.P.W. crews cleared the main arteries first, then concentrated on the secondary streets.

Merriman Road, Hannan Road and Wahman were partially closed at times Thursday, but were kept open to local traffic, at least, most of the time.

Paul said no salt was used at the height of the storm because cold temperatures and drifting snow made it ineffective. He also added that several front-end loaders were rented to help cope with the drifting snow.

Parenthood: Mixed blessing at tax time

(NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, offering advice on filing 1977 Income Tax returns.)

Parenthood generally is regarded as a blessing, but it can be a mixed blessing at income tax time, when traditional benefits available to those with dependent children fail to outweigh disadvantages as they once did.

In the view of many parents, their heaviest burden is meeting the inflation-bloated costs of education with no help from the tax collector.

Although members of Congress have called repeatedly for some sort of tax deduction or credit for higher education expenses, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants advises that there is no such deduction or credit that can be applied against 1977 incomes.

The CPAs say the tax outlook for parents is not entirely bleak, however. The general tax credit has been extended, which means that in addition to the $750 exemption a taxpayer can claim for each of his dependents (including himself) there is an extra $35 credit for each personal and dependency exemption. (If a taxpayer has fewer than six exemptions it probably will be more profitable to take the alternative credit of two percent of the first $9,000 of taxable income, up to a maximum credit of $180.)

For working parents, or those of whom one works while the other holds a job part-time or goes to school full time, the CPA association tells how to get back, as a tax credit, 20 percent of the costs, up to certain limits, of having a child cared for while you are out of the home.

The credit for the expense of having someone look after a child under 15 — or a disabled spouse or other dependent — can range up to $400 for care of one person, $800 for two or more. The credit can now be claimed, if the one who does the looking after is a relative, as long as the wages you pay that individual are subject to Social Security taxes. Couples have to file joint returns to claim the child-care credit.

If during 1977 you paid the interest on your child's student loan, the CPAs go on, you may not be able to take that interest as a tax deduction unless you co-signed the loan agreement and thus were actually liable for the interest.

If your child had a part-time job during the year, he continues to be your dependent as long as he is under 19 or is a full-time student, and as long as you provided more than half of his support.

Such a child — or anyone else not employed full time — is now exempted from filing an income tax return of his own unless earned income exceeds $2,950. If taxes were withheld from the wages, though, it will be necessary to file a return in order to get a refund.

On the other hand, if the child claimed as a dependent by his parents has unearned income — interest, dividends and the like — he must file a return, if his gross income exceeded $750.

A child's income does not affect the parent's income tax obligations, except when the child earns so much that he provides more than half of his own support. In computing how much of your child's support you contributed, remember that more than just out-of-pocket expenses can be included. Don't overlook, for example, the value of shelter and transportation; those can be sizeable items. Also, it is possible that many of the things the child paid for — entertainment, for instance, or vacation trips — do not fall under the heading of support.

Any scholarship a child receives is not considered in determining who provided more than half of the youngster's support.

In the case of children of divorced parents, the parent not having custody now can claim the child as a dependent in most cases only if he provided more than half of the support and contributed at least $1,200 for each child. In some circumstances the child can be taken as a dependent even though less than $1,200 was contributed, if the parent having custody agrees.

Parents of a daughter who married during 1977 still may be able to claim her as a dependent if they provided more than half of her support during the year and she does not file a joint return with her husband. Also, in determining how much support you contributed, you can include the costs of the wedding.

For the future, say the CPAs, most families' tax planning revolves around that looming obligation, the thousands of dollars it will take to pay for their children's higher education. And, they add, a long-range plan for saving and investment, with principal and interest protected as much as possible from being eroded by taxes, is essential.

One way to accomplish this is to transfer the savings account, certificates of deposit or other investments to your child. As interest or dividends are earned, any taxes owed on that income will be at the child's tax rate, which is likely to be much lower than yours.

What documents will my family need at the time of my death?

One of the most frustrating responsibilities of a spouse or family, at time of death, can be that of locating important papers and documents. A current and updated listing of these papers can, indeed, be a benefit to survivors.

This is a difficult activity for anyone to do because no one really wants to anticipate death or even prepare for it. On the other hand, you would be doing a real service to your family if you follow through on this. Make a list of your documents, indicating where each is.

The type of such papers and documents, along with location, might include: 1) your will, 2) Social Security papers, veteran's records, 3) cemetery deed, 4) insurance policies, 5) such certificates as birth, marriage, organization and/or union membership, educational, military 6) bank accounts and safety deposit boxes, 7) financial papers such as mortgages, contracts, promissory notes, negotiable papers, stocks, bonds, trust funds, 8) all recent tax returns or W2 forms.

Sometimes this information turns up information about assets either forgotten about or not known of by the survivors.

The right to work

Legislation to prohibit mandatory retirement in Michigan was approved by the State House of Representatives last week.

The legislation guarantees the right of every Michigan citizen to work and contribute to the economy without regard to age, and the bill should help to guarantee a productive and dignified life for the older workers of this state.

We have consistently support such legislation.

We feel that the arbitrary decision to retire workers at age 65 has little relationship to the ability of these workers to significantly contribute to society. In many situations, forced retirement will actually hasten the day when an elderly citizen can no longer provide for himself or those that may depend on him.

It makes no sense to remove from society, those persons that have gained valuable insight and experience in their specialties.

We dismiss arguments opposed to this legislation that state the retirement ban would rob people of job opportunities.

It has been estimated that only about seven percent of the workers approaching retirement age wish to remain on the job. But even if that percentage was 70, we don't feel that it is in the best interest of the individuals or the companies involved to turn out their most experienced employees to be replaced by people entering the work force for the first time.

Problems of unemployment should not be resolved at the expense of those individuals that have spent most of their lifetime in pursuit of making meaningful contribution to society.

We urge approval of this legislation by the Senate.

Elderly workers are not trouble makers, but trouble solvers. Our lawmakers should not lose sight of that fact.

The time for action on lake is now

While many of us are still digging out from the effects of the blizzard of '78, others are in the process of trying to dig out answers relative to Belleville Lake pollution.

The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, under the leadership of Dorothy Schroeder, has announced its intention of pursuing a letter writing campaign, directed toward area elected officials, in hope of prodding the legislators into getting Belleville Lake cleaned up.

The Chamber's action follows last summer's closing of the lake because of high levels of pollution and the outbreak of 'swimmers itch'.

We agree with the chamber. If the community is to get any action from the state, to help get the lake cleaned up, now is the time to ask for it. But the fight should not be left up to Belleville and Van Buren alone.

We feel that Belleville Lake is a recreational resource that everyone in Western Wayne County should have an interest in. Not only does the lake provide the residents of this area with recreational opportunities, but it attracts visitors from other areas, visitors that spend part of their vacation budget in this area.

The economic impact of a healthy Belleville Lake is considerable. The risk to health from a polluted Belleville Lake is also considerable.

We urge the residents of Western Wayne County to join the letter writing campaign to get our state legislators moving on a solution to the Belleville Lake pollution.

But even more importantly, we urge the elected representatives of Western Wayne County to take the lead.

It was not the residents of Belleville and Van Buren that polluted the lake. But it is the residents of Belleville and Van Buren, and the rest of Western Wayne County, that are forced to suffer the effects of the pollution.

It is time for the elected leaders of this area to get to work on a solution for the Belleville Lake pollution.

It is time for political action to resolve a problem that has resulted from political inaction.

Romulus International?

'You gotta be kidding!'

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

The telephone in my office rang at about 10:30 a.m. On the line was the new mayor of Romulus Bill Oakley. Oakley had just won election to the major's office in Romulus following a tough campaign waged against Terry Troutt.

"Dennis, what do you think about trying to get the name of Metro Airport changed to Romulus International," he asked.

After a brief pause I asked him where Romulus was. "That's the problem," he said. "Thousands of people fly in and out of Metro Airport daily, but few of them know that Metro is located in the center of Romulus." I think it's time for the people that have suffered the inconvenience of the airport to at least gain some identity from the use of their city for an international air facility.

Now wait a minute, bill," I said. "You mean that you're serious about trying to get the airport renamed Romulus International."

"You're damn right I'm serious," he said. "But Bill, I said, "be a realist, the Detroit dominated County Board of Commissioners is never going to agree to such a change. Why should they? They now have recognition for the airport and none of political pressure that might come from such an operation within Detroit."

"That may be true," Oakley said, "but what would it really cost them to make the name change." What would they be giving up? When you check your baggage at Orley Airport in Paris, you're really not in Paris or Orley. When you catch your BOAC flight out of Heathrow Airport you are not in London or Heathrow, and when you fly into Chicago and land at O'Hare, you're not in Chicago or in the city of O'Hare, so just what difference does it make what you call the airport?"

"Well I guess you're right," I said, "but what about the inconvenience to travelers during the name changing process. What would happen if you asked the baggage clerk at Dulles Airport to check your bags to Romulus? Why they might end up in South America."

Well, Dennis. When the city of Detroit changed the name of Cadillac Square to Kennedy Square, people were still able to find it, and when Cape Canaveral had its name changed to Cape Kennedy, the Apollo space craft were completely unaffected. And when Detroit's Penobscot Building was renamed the City National Bank Building, not one person lost it. So you see, the name of the facility is not really very important."

"OK mayor, I can see that changing the name of the airport to Romulus International would probably not create any problems, but if as you said, the name of the facility is not very important, why do you want it changed?"

"Dennis," the mayor said, "when a 747 is coming into land at the airport in the early morning hours, and one of the passengers asks the stewardess why the airport is named Romulus International, she will direct that person to look at the lines of homes on the ground under the flight path. The stewardess will tell that passenger that those people that are being disturbed by the plane's screaming engines live in Romulus, Michigan, and their only consolation for their lost and interrupted sleep is the knowledge that their community has an identity."

"You know, Bill," I said, "the more we talk about the prospect of renaming Metro to Romulus International, the more sense it makes. Not only would it be a good idea, but the citizens of Romulus deserve the recognition and identity that would follow that renaming."

"After all, it is their community, it is their comfort, and it is their convenience that is being compromised by the airport. It seems only fair that the residents of Romulus should get something in return," I said.

EPILOG

On January 11, 1978, Senate Majority Leader William Faust introduced a resolution in the Senate calling for the renaming of Detroit Metro Airport to Romulus International.

Getting the county airport renamed is a long shot at best, but unless the citizens of Romulus unite behind this issue, the renaming will, most likely, never happen.

Bald Eagle Speaks

It can't last forever

By BOB AMEEN

On every hand these days are heard the words - "Someday the bubble is going to burst!"

At the risk of being labeled a prophet of gloom and doom, I wish to add my voice in support.

What is being referred to is the false economy, the unrealistic sense of values and the absurd priorities which exist in our nation today.

While reading a column written about the Hollywood and New York scenes, I came across the fact that Bette Midler, a singer of some talents who lampoons the music of the 1950s, was being paid $250,000 for a 10-day stint.

A little mathematical computation revealed that in 40 to 50 seconds, this frazzled-haired, bosomy, run-of-the-mill better of songs made as much money as the average laborer does in 19 week in an auto plant — $280-$350!

At approximately $7 a second, more than $400 a minute, and $25,000 for an hour or so, she is still not paid as much as some of the top "stars" who appear in Las Vegas.

By what stretch of the imagination is anyone worth that amount of money in salary? The logical answer would seem to be — no one. But, the American public has only itself to blame. Such salaries are financed by the grass roots buying of tickets by Mr. and Mrs. John Doe in this United States.

When they plunk down that $15, $20 or $25 to see an entertainer perform, or an athlete compete, their tickets multiplied many times over, plus advertising revenue received, pay those huge salaries.

The best way to stop such outrageous salary payments is for the American public to tell themselves how ridiculous it is for them to pay such outlandish prices. Such realistic boycotts would soon bring down these salaries to more normal levels, if put into action.

But, the American public has been a No. 1 sucker for years on end, and the odds favor them to continue to subsidize the "talents" of those it wishes to see and hear perform. To expect them to change that drastically is more than human nature will permit.

However, making possible the payment of astronomical salaries to entertainers and athletes is only one of a lengthy number of foolish things that our nation's citizens are guilty of doing.

What about the soaring cost of real estate, especially in California? According to newspaper stories, houses which are little more than shacks are selling for hundreds of thousands of dollars if they are located on the ocean shore!

Even houses which are set back a few blocks are going like hot cakes for sums many times their actual market worth.

Consider the high price of automobiles today. The giant car makers, even after taking about a thousand pounds off of many models, using more and more plastic, smaller engines, etc., still end up charging the consumer more for their products! It just doesn't make sense.

What about the United States sending billions of dollars in foodstuffs and medical supplies abroad, when millions at home are reported to be suffering from malnutrition?

In short, the consumer, the mainstay of this great nation, the force that keeps our economy going through thick and thin, is getting the short end.

Consider galoshes for example. The price of a new lightweight version of the old buckle or zipper galosh I saw recently was $7.99 without zipper and $13.99 with zipper! The synthetic rubber footwear only weighed a few ounces, it was made when molten rubber was poured into a mold, and the entire cost could not have been over a few cents. But, the cost was several dollars. To get the zippered model meant an outlay of $6 for a zipper that cost 50 or 60 cents at the dime store.

Big or small, regardless of the product involved, Americans in many instances are paying prices that are going to make a few people rich very fast.

But, it doesn't have to be that way. Simply by exercising a little common sense, a little patience until prices come down, and refusing to buy when prices are out of line, may just do wonders. We should all try it once in a while.

About winners and losers

By RUSS TUTTLE

Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

We live in a world of contrasts: good vs. evil, moral vs. immoral, honest vs. dishonest.

This truism was forcibly brought to mind this week by two events which touched my life I found myself asking the futile question: why? Why do things happen to some people but not to others?

Why, so it appears, do the good people so often draw the short straw? And why do those who don't really seem to deserve the privilege of life seem to stumble on doing nothing more than causing extreme difficulty for those who play it straight?

My musing started this morning when I attended a funeral for an old friend. He was a man with a zest for life. A professional who was known in many parts of the country for his expertise in his chosen vocation. He was only age 60 when he expired so unexpectedly, leaving a widow and seven children to finish life without his good counsel.

Not too long ago he underwent a traumatic surgery. I can remember sitting in his room talking with him just the day before he was to be operated.

He accepted his bad luck without a whimper. Following the surgery, he was a tiger in the rehabilitation phase of his recovery. Nothing was going to get him down. He went through the painful, and without a doubt frustrating rehabilitation, and again he refused to complain or indulge in any form of self-pity.

He was a man, and he was a good and decent man. He really didn't know if one was black or white, Jew or Christian, Republican or Democrat. And of greater significance, he didn't care about such trappings. He cared only for people and spent most of his time working with and for those very people. And now, not too many years from retirement, he is dead.

I want to contrast this man's life and death with something I saw last week. In no way am I going to make any moral judgments; but I just can't help asking myself why things happen as they do.

There were four of us at a table in one of the truly outstanding coney island hot dog restaurants in this part of the country. We'd just come from the auto show at Cobo Hall and the conversation centered itself about the new cars, the celebrities in attendance, the attractive models shilling for the auto companies, and the special quality of the hog dogs.

I looked out through a large plate glass window, and a sight across the street caught my eye. A large man — six feet and perhaps 200 pounds — was standing with his hands wrapped around a light pole. Part of his body was covered with snow as if he had fallen.

In one hand he held a brown paper bag from which the neck of a bottle protruded. Every now and again he'd drink from the bottle. Two young men, possibly 16 or 17, stood about 30 feet away watching this poor soul.

He let go of the pole and took one step. That step was too much, and he toppled over a snow bank and fell into the street in a puddle of dirty and obviously frigid water. His stocking cap came off as he rolled over onto his back — the rolling was probably the only thing which prevented his drowning. There was thrashing in the water and he managed to get to his hands and knees so he could crawl from the gutter up over the snow bank onto the sidewalk. I watched the stocking cap float away.

The two young men moved in closer. The man got to his feet and took off the now-sopping coat. He weaved, took one step and went down hard, on the sidewalk.

He lay there on the sidewalk for 30 seconds or so and then miraculously was able to get to his feet once again. He stood, and with a tremendous burst of energy, flung the wet coat toward a building. As he let go of the coat, the alcohol again triumphed and he crashed to the sidewalk where he lay on his back shouting at the building toward which he'd flung his coat.

The few pedestrians downtown that Saturday afternoon gave him a wide berth as they hurried down the street. But the young men moved even closer.

The struggle was Herculean, but despite the odds, the man again got to his feet and started down the sidewalk toward Woodward Avenue. The young men moved in, and I was certain we were going to witness the mugging of a defenseless drunk. Another adult male happened on the scene, shouted something at the youngsters, and they took off with great haste.

The drunk continued his perilous journey. If he didn't freeze to death, he may have made it to a flop house. Of, if he was lucky, the Detroit Police may have found him and dropped him at the nearest hospital for detoxification. But whatever, I think of the good, hard-working friend whom I just left and to whom I'd said a final goodbye.

A lump comes to my throat and it's hard to see the keyboard of my typewriter through misty eyes.

And I'm still bedeviled. Why?

Meet the total women

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I put the newspaper down on the coffee table and looked over at my husband, sleeping in his chair. The football game was only half over, which meant he had quite awhile yet to sleep and I debated whether I should waken him or let him enjoy the game.

"Marabelle Morgan would let him enjoy the game," I told myself as I tried desperately to recall what Marabelle had said about such a situation in her "Total Woman."

"I don't think her husband ever fell asleep with her around," I told myself, "what with all that nudity wrapped in cellophane and drinks and all that."

Still I needed someone to talk to so I went upstairs and talked to myself in the mirror.

"It's puzzling," I said. "Here Marabelle Morgan and Phyllis Schaffley, the two biggest proponents for women staying home and gambling around under room tables in the candlelight while the good dinner sizzles in the crock pot, have both made a lot of money this past year, and are so busy traveling all over the country talking to women, they haven't had time to finish a good pot roast."

I learned closer to the mirror and said earnestly to myself.

"If they are so busy making all that money and running around the country, how do they have time to frolic around the dining room when hubby comes home from the office?"

Since I couldn't answer that I decided I should go and see Marabelle. Tiptoeing out of the house I rushed to the airport and caught a plane.

It didn't take any time at all to find her home since all the women congregated at the door of the airport turning out greenstuff were happy to direct me there.

I rang the doorbell and before I could blink my eyes, it flew open and there before me was a hulk of a man wrapped in cellophane with a big red bow, holding out a bit of sparkly in a champagne glass.

"Welcome home," he cried and puckered up. When he didn't get any response he opened his eyes and looked at me.

"My gosh," he shouted. "Who are you?" I told him I had come to see a few the homefires were doing what with Marabelle out making all that money and leading the way for the rest of us women.

"As you can see," he said, patting down his cellophane. "The home fires are still burning. You see," he grinned, adjusting his big red bow. "Marabelle and I decided it didn't really matter who kept the fires going and who made the greenstuff in a total marriage. That's the title of our next mint-maker book, you see...Total Marriage."

And he got up and went out to the kitchen to stir the beans. I didn't have the heart to tell him his cellophane was ripping where he sat down.

From the State Senate

Transportation finance compromise

The Majority Leader
State Senator William Faust
13th District

One of the most important issues facing the Legislature in 1978 is the financing of transportation in Michigan.

Mention transportation and many people automatically think of highways, while others will consider mass transit. In actuality, however, this vital area includes many types of transportation and a multitude of state and local governmental agencies associated with providing transportation services, and this is the crux of the current challenge facing the Legislature — reaching agreement on legislation that will, to the extent that revenues allow, provide fair and equitable financing to these diverse transportation modes and agencies.

Many meetings and a great deal of work involving legislative leaders and representatives of various agencies and transportation groups have already gone into this effort. Among their consideration in developing feasible budgetary plans were state highways, county and city roads, critical bridges and general transportation, which includes mass transit, railroads, airports and shipping.

The result to date of all the work that has gone into hammering out a viable transportation financing plan is a compromise package. At the center of it is a proposal to raise an additional $147.6 million in state monies to help adequately finance Michigan's many transportation programs in the face of the same rising costs that daily confront us on an individual and family basis.

This $147.6 million in "new" transportation revenues would be obtained in the following ways: raising the state gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon, which would bring in approximately $90 million; raising the diesel fuel tax 2 cents, which would bring in another $6 million; increasing the weight tax on passenger vehicles by 30 percent and on commercial vehicles by 35 percent, which would raise an estimated $51.6 million. The compromise plan also calls for allocating $20.9 million that comes into the state general fund from sales tax collections for general transportation purposes.

Under the present terms of this compromise package, the total in new revenues would be distributed in this manner: $30.4 million additional to state highways; $49.3 million to county road commissions; $27.3 million to cities and villages; $4 million for critical bridge replacement; and $36.6 million for general transportation which, when added to the $20.9 million coming from the state general fund, results in a total of $57.5 million additional for general transportation.

Coming up with a viable transportation financing plan, however, involves much more than determining how to raise the needed additional revenues and then distribute them. Two crucial factors must be taken into consideration when assessing how this compromise plan is likely to fare in the days ahead.

First, timely approval of a state transportation plan by the Legislature is necessary if many of Michigan's local transportation authorities are to continue operating at their present level of service without eventually experiencing cutbacks caused by a lack of funds. Of course, a long holdup in reaching agreement on a plan also would delay needed street and bridge improvements throughout the state.

The second factor is the request by some of the transportation groups for a constitutional amendment that would guarantee that 90 percent of total funding goes for roads, streets and highways. The remaining 10 percent would be available for general transportation.

What undoubtedly prompted this request was the recent State Supreme Court ruling that upheld the legality of using highways fund monies for other transportation purposes as well. Following this court decision, highways interests have sought to obtain assurances that they will continue to receive the largest share of state transportation funding.

Realistically, I believe we can expect to see a great deal of discussion regarding this proposal before it is submitted to the Legislature for two-thirds approval by both Houses.

As the individual program requests are weighed in light of the revenues available for distribution, I hope all legislators will not lose sight of the necessity of maintaining a balanced transportation system throughout the state to meet the varied needs of all Michigan residents, including the highway user who drives his own car, the senior citizen who depends on the local Dial-A-Ride service and the manufacturer who must get his products to markets located throughout the country.

From Romulus City Hall

More citizen help is needed

I would like to express my sincere gratitude for the editorial stand the Romulus Roman has taken, over the past several weeks, in regard to our efforts to secure a new post office for the citizens of Romulus.

It is commendable that the paper takes seriously its responsibility to the community it serves and has chosen to give positive support to our city's goals and aspirations.

In addition, the City Council last week took formal action in resolving to support efforts to see a new post office built in Romulus.

Although initial citizen response to the new post office movement was strong and encouraging, we have been advised by Representative William Ford's office, that much more citizen input is needed, if our cause is to receive full attention.

Therefore, I again invite all citizens who have been inconvenienced by or have experienced inferior or inadequate postal service from the Taylor operation, to write me at city hall, briefly describing your problems.

I will use these letters to support our case at the highest levels of government, if necessary.

Citizens should address their letters to: Mayor Oakley, City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174.

Eventually, I am convinced the rightness of our cause will prevail and, with the continued support of the Romulus Roman, our new post office will become a reality. But, it will also take the concerted effort of the majority of our citizens to achieve it.

William M. Oakley
Mayor, City of Romulus

From Belleville Chamber of Commerce

The time for action on lake is now

As the President of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce I would like to make a plea to the residents of Belleville and Van Buren Township.

Although summer is many months away and the pollution problem of the Belleville Lake is not in the limelight at this time, by no means does that mean that the problem has gone away.

The Pollution of the lake is still with us and has had very bad effects on the two communities, affecting not only the recreation for many people in the Western Wayne Communities besides the two mentioned, but creating serious economic hardships on the business area and the residents.

This day and age when we have government agencies protecting our environment and natural resources and the effect pollution has on them it is hard to understand why we cannot get to the source of the pollution and correct it, or if the source or sources are known take action to correct it.

I believe if enough people write their legislators both in Washington and Lansing we can resolve the problem. It will take a lot of letters to let them know the seriousness of the problem so my plea is to write often, tell all your friends to write and needless to say everyone who reads this letter write.

Do not be misled by the fact that "if you do not live on the lake it does not affect you," because it very definitely does affect both communities and residents.

Dorothy R. Schroeder, President
Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Joey's Lounge in Westland

JOE BENYO

Traveling Gourmet

The jukebox is playing...Sinatra is singing "They say that happiness is just a thing called Joe"...And as you enter Westland's newest lounge at Ford and Newburgh roads, it's absolutely amazing...What once was a neighborhood bar—and empty for a number of years, in rundown condition—has been transformed by artistry of the highest caliber.

A hand reaches out, a smile fills the entranceway and a greeting of "Hi, welcome to Joey's" comes in a friendly manner to make you instantly feel that you're among friends...You've just been welcomed by the owner, Joey DeSanto.

Sinatra is still singing... "He's got a smile that makes your face glow"... "Ole Blue Eyes" has hit it on the head...Joey DeSanto does just that...

"So you're that gourmet guy who's going to write about the lounge," Joey speaks out. "Tell what you see...no lies now. We got a great place here, and we want everyone to know that Joey's here to stay."

Another breath and we're off on tour...into the kitchen and walk-in cooler... "See the meats, vegetables, all this is bought by me at the Eastern Market. I hand pick everything I buy. I search for the best. I even grind Italian sausage myself."

"You know why? Because Joey's Lounge will be known for good things. Everything will be good. And also because Joey loves people. Yes, that's right, I love people."

Joey DeSanto has been exposed to buying and rebuilding bars for more than 15 years. He comes from a family of lounge and nightclub owners and has an uncle who owns the Club Gay Haven. Joey owned the Poison Apple in Westland, sold it and semi-retired for several years.

The itch to get back into the business came up when the old Friend's Bar became available. After a lot of renovations and hard work by many people, Joey's Lounge was born. And DeSanto is planning another lounge in downtown Detroit. He feels that Detroit will come alive and is banking on his other new venture.

DeSanto, by description, is a good looking man of Italian descent, born some 48 years ago. His size makes you think twice about doing something to anger him. DeSanto is a former professional fighter and at one time ranked eighth in the world middle weight class. His boxing career was flawless until he broke his hand in 1948 and retired...undefeated.

Married to his wife, Irene, for 27 years, they have three children—Diane, 25, Angelo, 23, and Joe Jr., 22—and a grandson, Joe III. Keeping the family somewhat in the tradition, Angelo is the night manager and Joe Jr. the day kitchen manager. Joey also is proud of the fact that Angelo has appeared as a character actor in eight movies, including most recently "Semi-Tough" with Burt Reynolds and "Thunder Lightning" with David Carradine.

DeSanto muses about the many show people he has met over the years. A photograph over the bar of Mohammad Ali and Joey at a social gathering recently attests to that fact.

The bar decor is in tiers, with the first "step down" the bar area with plush stools and tables for dining and drinking. The first step-up area has booths done in leather and the dance floor, while the unique third step-up can be used for private dining and parties, with tables and booths and smoked glass mirrors. The carpeting is in brown and black plush that's easy on the walking and the noise level.

The walls are of rough sawn cedar in a diagonal design. The lighting is of a contemporary design in a lamp effect, with a stained glass fixture in most of the booth areas. Several of the steps to the upper levels are of special stained glass that are outstanding and attractive. The ceilings are of a dropped acoustical tile.

The sound system is excellent in quality, and in addition to a jukebox, entertainment is provided Tuesday through Saturday from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Currently appearing is Dave and Company.

The daytime chef, George, is famous around Michigan, having been head chef at many famous restaurants. And DeSanto feels it is one of his better accomplishments to have George at Joey's lounge. The evening cook, Ernestine, also comes from a host of famous restaurants—Susi Q's, Vargos and JB's—and has been cooking for more than 27 years. She proudly relates that she cooked for the famous Luxembourg Family in Tennessee for five years.

Our waitress, Gail, has been serving people since she was 14 and says that's half of her life. She quickly brought a drink to the table and a menu for the lounge.

The menu includes Joey's Italian sausage dinner, $3; filet mignon, $7.95; New York strip, $6.95; prime rib, $6.95; T-bone steak, $7.95; shrimp, $5.95; frog legs, $6.50; lobster, $9.95; homemade vegetable soup, $1.50; French onion soup (baked and homemade), $1.50; breaded mushrooms, $2; shrimp cocktail, $2.50; pig's feet, $3.50; tripe, $2.50; and salad bar, $1.50. All dinner items come with soup, salad, potato and coffee. And in the very near future there will be a new menu item of Joey's battered sauteed frog legs, specially prepared, for $6.50.

A full service bar with every drink imaginable also is offered by Joey's Lounge. The wine list is most impressive with aperitif, red table, rose and white wines and champagne available by the glass or the bottle. A cream sherry is offered by the glass, and there's beer on tap.

DINNER AT JOEY'S...

—ONION SOUP...lots of onions and broth, real mozzarella cheese baked with croutons made this outstanding in every way.

—VEGETABLE BEEF SOUP...chock full of vegetables of every nature, with bite-sized pieces of tender beef, rather than the ground style beef...was delicious.

—BREAD BASKET...butter flavored garlic toast, fresh rolls, sesame seed breadsticks, Italian bread, crackers and lots of fresh real butter.

—SALAD BAR...lettuce was crisp and green, soft cherry tomatoes, slices of hard boiled eggs, chichi beans, ripe black olives, real bacon pieces...each dressing was homemade and included thousand island, Italian, rouquefort and creamy garlic.

—SHRIMP...breaded, tasty and possibly one of the finest around...sauce was tangy and delicious.

—SCALLOPS...outstanding and breaded to perfection, and again the cocktail sauce was great.

—SAUSAGE...a blend of pork, hot peppers and spices (made by Joey himself)...served on an open-faced bun with lettuce and tomato. I have never tasted as fine a sausage as I did at Joey's...unbelievably excellent in every way.

T-BONE STEAK...tender with natural juices, served with whole mushrooms and cooked to perfection...an outstanding treat.

—COTTAGE FRIES...crispy outside and soft inside...cooked fine and not greasy at all.

—BAKED POTATO...as if soft whipped inside, flakey and tender, not overdone, with an abundance of butter and sour cream.

AFTER DINNER COFFEE...try and find a better cup anywhere.

Summing it up, Sinatra was right. Happiness is a thing called Joe, and in this case, Joey DeSanto.

The food, the decor, the prices, the atmosphere, the newness...all these things are a part of the lounge, but in my opinion, the greatest of these is the personal touch by Joey DeSanto.

Court re-organization sought

A reorganized courts and correctional systems for Wayne County has been proposed by Commissioner Samuel A. Turner which would combine Circuit, Common Pleas and Recorder's courts, establish a District Court paralleling those in all other Michigan counties, and consolidate state parole and county probation functions into a single county department.

Turner announced the plan Jan. 23 and said he will present it for approval of the County Board of Commissioners at its next meeting tomorrow.

In his plan, to be submitted in the form of two resolutions, Turner is also asking for recommendations from Wayne County representatives in the legislature and members of the Recorder's and Circuit benches on reorganization policy.

The plan will save Detroit, Wayne County and state taxpayers millions of dollars while promoting economy and efficiency, Turner said.

The new courts idea is patterned after a program under study by a panel of judges and other court officers for several years, including Judge William C. Hague whose Traffic and Ordinance Division of recorder's Court would be abolished under the program.

Under the court plan Turner proposes activation of a 36th District Court with the first judges transferring from the Recorder's and Common Pleas Courts it would incorporate, he said.

Thereafter both the District and Circuit judges would be elected from 27 districts in the county divided equally according to population figures from the 1970 census.

District judges would be elected for four-year terms, circuit judges for six years.

In announcing the reorganization program, Turner pointed out that every county in Michigan except Wayne County has a complete District Court system and said "the legislative, executive and judicial divisions of state government have long sought to reorganize the courts of Wayne County."

"The reorganized two-tier court system would represent the will of the people better, and court efficiency would improve to the point where no citizen would be denied reasonable access to the courts," Turner added.

All court dockets could consolidate under a new system and judicial personnel would be available wherever needed without reassignment of cases or judges to handle backlogs.

Under the new concept, the entire courts system would be financed by the state, and any income from its operation would go into the state treasury.

The planned corrections changes support proposed state legislation, Senate Bill 845, introduced by Sen. Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek) that is now before the Committee on Judiciary.

Turner said the bill affects only counties with population of 30,000 or more, and is similar to bills approved in Oregon and Minnesota. It provides for state subsidy for expansion of county probation departments to include parole duties that the state would relinquish.

The bill also requires the participating counties to maintain their current level of funding and to allow displaced state employees first employment opportunity in the new county-run corrections agency.

MESC starts to phase out SUA benefits

Under federal law, Special Unemployment Assistance (SUA) is being phased out, according to S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

No new claims are being accepted, and payments on current claims will be completely phased out by the end of June.

The SUA program has been providing up to 26 weeks per year of unemployment benefits to many persons who were not otherwise covered — employees of political subdivisions such as cities, villages, townships and counties; employees of school districts and community college districts; farm workers and domestic workers.

Most of these people now are covered under the state unemployment insurance program, effective Jan. 1.

In 1975, the year SUA began, 13,546 persons received at least one payment in Michigan; in 1976, 13,246 in the first 11 months of 1977, 11,615.

Total payments amounted to $14,376,930 in 1975; $18,567,780 in 1976; and $17,684,807 during the first 11 months of 1977.

Another federally funded unemployment program, the Federal Supplemental Benefits (FSB) program, ended Jan. 28.

The FSB was a temporary program that provided additional unemployment benefits to persons who had exhausted regular and federal-state extended benefits.

Both SUA and FSB began in 1974 as temporary programs to lessen the impact of high unemployment during the recession.

Water, energy savings urged

Restaurants in Michigan are being urged to support a water and energy conservation program by serving customers drinking water upon request only.

The program, launched by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), is aimed at reducing the amount of energy expended on transporting and treating drinking water, freezing it for the ice that is served with it and heating for washing the glasses it is served in.

"By not automatically serving a glass of water for each meal, more than seven million gallons of water could be saved in the United States each day," MUCC said.

The organization has printed thousands of small placards for display on restaurant tables advising customers that the restaurant they are patronizing is participating in the nationwide energy conservation effort. The placard explains that, as part of that effort, the restaurant is serving water to patrons, only if they request it.

In 1976, MUCC spearheaded another state-wide effort to save energy by initiating a petition drive for a ban on throwaway bottles and cans. During the campaign leading to the election which voters overwhelmingly approved abolishing throwaways, MUCC emphasized that a ban on nonreturnables would result in a huge saving in energy that was being used to manufacture containers that were used only once and then discarded.

Any restaurant interested in participating in the program to reduce the amount of drinking water served may obtain placards free of charge by writing to MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing 48909 and indicating the number of placards wanted.

Park has it all

Winter facilities at Stoney Creek Metropark near Rochester and Utica include a large skating rink, plus two small hockey rinks.

Bing Eberhart, assistant park superintendent, suggests winter enthusiasts try these facilities this season. Both are located at the boat launching site.

The boat launching building, a few steps from the skating rinks, has a heated lobby and heated restrooms. Snacks and hot or cold drinks are available weekdays from the vending machines, and a snack bar provides more complete food services on weekends.

An Open Letter To The Best People In The World, Our Customers:

I am writing this letter to let all of you know how much I appreciate your patience during last week's snowstorm.

The record snowfall created scenes of fantastic beauty, but also created major problems. Hundreds of people were stranded on the highways, and many of those fortunate enough to be at home were subjected to a loss of power, heat and even water.

Delivery trucks that were scheduled to re-supply our shelves were also the victims of the blizzard of '78. The trucks and their drivers made every attempt to overcome the elements. In some cases they succeeded, but in most cases, they could not.

But our failure to keep the shelves stocked, and the driver's failure to deliver the goods did not occur as the result of a lack of effort or caring.

We especially appreciate the efforts of those customers who assisted us because of our snowbound employees.

We value your patronage, and as usual will not take that patronage for granted.

Please accept our apology for any inconvenience that our shortages may have created for you or your family.

Sincerely,

Bill Simonds

'y Club award labeled ieve Clark Scholarship'

the scholarship would be named. The Junior Study Club recently received permission from the descendants of Miss Clark to use her name on the award.

The following bits of her biography, which date back 154 years to 1834, will illustrate why club members were so enthusiastic in their selection of Edna Genevieve Clark, the granddaughter of Robert Patterson Clark who helped plat the village of Belleville in 1848.

Miss Clark, the first born of George and Clara Clark, arrived in 1877 on the anniversary of the country's 16th president, Abraham Lincoln.

Known as Genevieve, rather than Edna, Miss Clark was closely associated with the education field practically all her life. A graduate of Belleville High School in 1894 she later became its first woman principal.

Upon receiving her degree from Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti, now known as Eastern Michigan University, she began a teaching career which was to span 32 years. The archives of the Belleville school system and those of Flat Rock and Monroe County list her as having taught in their communities.

At MSNC the "Normal College" (as it was so referred) she taught in the geography department with a noted colleague, Professor Mark Jefferson, for whom EMU's Jefferson Hall is named.

She continued her education by studying at Cornell University in New York and by spending the summer of 1911 at Cambridge University in England.

Upon reflecting on the background of her grandfather, it is easier to understand Miss Clark's dedication to her career and community. Robert Clark not only had a hand in the birth of Belleville but, along with Daniel Quirk, donated the lot upon which was built the first church (Methodist) in Belleville. He served as supervisor of Van Buren Township; went onto serve in the State Legislature; was Highway Commissioner for 18 years; served as County Superintendent of the Poor (overseeing the operation of the Wayne County Poor Farm), and was director of the French Landing School District for many years.

At one time, Clark was Van Buren Township Librarian. In 1875 he helped Thomas Quirk and William Crawford plan and supervise the construction of the Van Buren Township Hall in Belleville (where this newspaper is currently located.) The beautiful home he built is still standing on Huron River Drive where he also operated a successful farm.

Enthusiastic and active as was her noted ancestor, Miss Clark was an avid supporter of the 4-H movement in its early beginnings in the area. She served on the board of directors of the Peoples State Bank and in the early 1900's was secretary of the Belleville High School Alumni Association.

Of special delight to Miss Clark

MISS CLARK

Throughout the following year and a half, the scholarship has been referred to as the "Single Parent Scholarship" or more simply, "the scholarship."

Feeling that the award should have a more specific designation, the club held further discussions and delved into past history for a possible title for the accolade. Several names were brought to light but it was upon reading the background of the late Genevieve Clark of Van Buren Township that a decision was reached. It was the consensus that she, being a single parent herself, and with a broad background in education, was the ideal person for whom

Group's weight loss is scholarship's 'gain'

Faculty and students at Washtenaw Community College have joined forces to fight the battle of the bulge.

Under the direction of the head nurse Sandra Meeks, "Waist-Watchers" meet extracurricularly in sessions throughout the term with a goal that every enrollee will lose at least two pounds a week. Anyone who doesn't achieve that goal is penalized $1 per week. Penalty money goes into the Willie Simpson Memorial Scholarship Fund. Simpson, who died last June 27, had been associated with the College for 10 years as a counselor.

Ms. Meeks and her assistant Barbara Diette, who is a Belleville resident, have found that among many of those who join the program there are some common denominators causing weight gain: overeating because food is available or enjoying eating to unwind or to relieve boredom. They find that a lot of eating takes place "out of tradition" as well as "because society regards it as a priority."

What the twosome has succeeded in doing with previous groups of "Waist-Watchers" is to change eating patterns, to help participants anticipate trouble with their diets and to provide advice on various aspects of eating, including "brown bagging."

Organized by Ms. Meeks as a daily help to "Waist-Watchers" is a "Fat Board" filled with tips and strategies to help melt pounds away. One of these helps on the board is a "Cheat List Strategy" which provides a list of two dozen foods one can eat when he feels a compulsion to snack. The list begins with raw vegetables and ends with pie. The catch is that to get to the pie, the "Waist-Watcher" must follow the order of the list, skipping no foods. That means that to have a bowl of unbuttered popcorn (Number 11 on the list), the dieter has to have not only a serving of raw vegetables but cooked vegetables, eggs, hard cheese, soft cheese, fish, plain meat, cold cuts, fruit and fruit juice. Ms. Meeks notes that what's been found is that most "Waist-Watchers" get as far as the cheeses and give up eating for the time in disgust. It's too much trouble to work up to the food they crave.

In the past most "Waist-Watchers" have lost 10-12 pounds during the 8-week sessions. This measure of success behind them, it's believed that the dieters' plan to find another way to fill the College's scholarship coffers is a good idea.

Tony takes the cake

Having a charitable cause in mind, the Student Council of North Junior High School held a cake raffle, the whimsical panda bear-creation being the work and artistry of Mrs. Thomas, the mother of an NJHS student. Tickets were sold during lunch for 15 cents each with a resulting profit of $54. The money was later presented to the family of one of the students whose home and belongings had been destroyed in a fire. Jannet Abraham (right) vice-president of the student council, picked the winning ticket, the results of which were announced by council president David LaBlanc (left). Taking home the prize was Tony Straddin, a ninth grader, whose lone purchase netted him the cake.

In Washtenaw County

Camp Fire Girls seeking volunteers

The Washtenaw Area Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. has established its office within the confines of Family Day Care Council of Michigan, Inc. located in the "old" Ypsilanti High School at 210 West Cross Street.

Camp Fire has a history of being in the Ypsilanti-West Willow area for the past seven years. The program was operated by a small group of concerned parents who volunteered to become group leaders. These same parents later approached the National Headquarters of Camp Fire Girls requesting information concerning originating a council in the Washtenaw area. A steering committee was then formed and members of the committee then applied two years of their time and energy conducting a survey of Washtenaw County which confirmed the need for Camp Fire in the area.

The council received its charter from National in March of 1977. On March 15, 1977 the Council held its first annual meeting when members of the board of directors were appointed and officers elected.

The staff is comprised of Betty Nelson, executive director, and Mary Kennedy, secretary.

Camp Fire is a non-profit youth organization that provides the opportunity for today's youth to meet together in small groups to learn more about themselves, other people, interesting places to go and interesting and fun things to do. In general, Camp Fire's goal is to help youth learn more about the world around her-him and to seek out ways of improving it.

It service youths between the ages of 6 and 21. There are also adult memberships available in the positions of board members, group leaders, co-leaders, sponsors and regular members. Currently there are 31 adults and 110 youth members.

Group meetings are usually held in the home of the group leader. This arrangement was found to be quite convenient for both the girls and the leader as the girls are all from the immediate area and transportation problems are minimized. The groups are small and meeting in the leader's home provides an informal homey setting. The work load of the leader is minimized as the leader doesn't have to make time-consuming arrangements to meet elsewhere.

Activities include fund-raising, trips, arts and crafts, workshops, camping and much more.

Camp Fire is currently in need of more volunteers as group leaders, co-leaders, office staff, sponsors, board members and regular members. Anyone interested in joining may contact Betty Nelson at 484-0900 between 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Why not make the whole day special by starting off with a special-occasion breakfast? And for breakfasts that are especially gala, and easy as well, that old breakfast favorite.

Log Cabin syrup, has a new partner, Log Cabin pancake and waffle mix. You start with the mix, add your own special touch, make the syrup special too and see how the family goes for these morning celebrations!

For the next a.m. party, instead of just plain pancakes, try these Oatmeal Pancakes — delicious! They start with the regular pancake and waffle mix made with shortening, milk and egg and your special addition, rolled oats, to make pancakes that the family will applaud.

There are lots of ways you can make the syrup special too. One idea here is the Peanut Butter Topping that the kids will love. And there's Jiffy Peach Sauce, also made with syrup, that you can whip up in a jiffy. Add sausages or bacon, and the celebration is off to a festive start.

The new pancake and waffle mix is also available in buttermilk pancake and waffle mix and complete pancake and waffle mix. All are so easy to put together that you don't have to wait for special occasions to serve party breakfasts like these. In fact, they can make breakfast itself something to celebrate, any day.

Oatmeal Pancakes

One-third cup pancake and waffle syrup
1 cup milk

1 egg
1 cup regular pancake and waffle mix
2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening
1/2 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
Add one-third cup syrup to milk and egg. Stir in pancake and waffle mix, shortening and oats. Stir with a fork just until pancake mix is moistened. Bake, as directed on package. Makes about 14 four-inch pancakes or 6 servings.

Peanut Butter Topping

1/8 cup pancake and waffle syrup
1/4 cup creamy peanut butter

Gradually add syrup to peanut butter, beating thoroughly, and continue beating until smooth and well blended. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Jiffy Peach Sauce

1/2 cup pancake and waffle syrup
Two-thirds to three-fourths cup diced drained canned peaches
Combine syrup and peaches. Makes about 1 cup.

Olympic gold medal winner to speak

Wilma Rudolph, the first and only female athlete representing the United States to win three Olympic gold medals and establish three world records, will appear as part of a lecture series open to the public at Washtenaw Community College on Feb. 7 at 12 noon.

Ms. Rudolph, who was recently the subject of a 90-minute television special depicting her struggles not only as a black athlete, but as a child who overcame the crippling effects of polio, will speak in Lecture Hall II of the Exact Sciences Building on the college grounds. The lecture is free and is open to the public.

In addition to her international acclaim as a runner, Ms. Rudolph has earned recognition for her efforts as a member of the United States Olympic Committee and as a Good Will Ambassador for the United States in French West Africa.

Twice she was named United States Woman Athlete of the Year and once Sports Woman of the Year by the European sports writers.

Now an educational consultant, she is particularly interested in community action programs designed for youths. Throughout the country she has given sports skills demonstrations in areas earmarked as troubled ones. Here she has also helped design curricula to meet needs of drop-outs.

Ample parking is available on the college campus near the Lecture Hall where Ms. Rudolph will speak.

Clark name chosen

Leaving her teaching career for a while, she undertook the duties involved with being a mother when she and her sister, Lnez, adopted twin girls — Genevieve raising Frances and Inez rearing Susan.

Frances later became Mrs. Frances Maund and presented her mother with two grandchildren, Sheryl Lynn and James Edward. Susan, now Mrs. John De Mara, still resides locally on a parcel of property granted by the U.S. Government to the original pioneer settlers, Timothy and Sophia Clark.

(Edna) Genevieve Clark died May 25, 1956 at the age of 79, leaving behind many memories of her lifetime.

The loving act of adoption by a woman who had remained unmarried all her life, no doubt had a definite influence on the Junior Study Club when its final votes were cast and its scholarship named for Genevieve Clark.

Varied classes - plants to taxes - offered

The Ypsilanti Center of Washtenaw Community College, now located at 411 Florence Street (in the old St. John's School Building) has several interesting classes planned for upcoming weeks.

PLANT PARENTHOOD

The first, a 3-session workshop called "Plant Parenthood", will be held Feb. 3, 10 and 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. Ken Carnes will conduct the program which will cover such areas as: plant propagation (methods discussed and demonstrated); watering methods, and soil and fertilizer. He also will discuss plant diseases (diagnosis and care) and how to select and maintain the right foliage plants.

The fee for the entire program is $5 with senior citizens admitted free. Advance registrations are requested and may be made by calling 482-2230.

ASSERTIVENESS TRAINING WORKSHOP

A 1-day workshop in assertiveness training is scheduled for Feb. 4 at the Center. It will be directed by Dr. Sara Ann Lincoln, Women's Studies Instructor for the University of Michigan Extension Service.

Dr. Lincoln's assertiveness training workshop is designed to help men and women learn to express ideas in direct, honest, straightforward and appropriate ways. Through assertive, self-expression, workshop participants will learn to avoid infringing on the rights of others and to prevent their own rights from being violated. The difference between assertion and aggression will be examined, and participants will learn why assertion is beneficial to both partners in a relationship, and why it must usually be cultivated.

A primary goal of the workshop will be that of assisting each person in learning to accept and deal with true feelings. Participants will also be urged to learn to recognize ultimate responsibility for their own feelings and behavior.

The workshop will meet at the Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., (sack lunch recommended). The fee is $10 with senior citizens admitted free. Advance registrations are requested; call 482-2230.

MACRAME WORKSHOP

A 2-session macrame workshop will be presented by Zane Olukals on Feb. 6 and 13 from 1:30 to 4 p.m. OR Feb. 14 and 21 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The fee will be $7 with senior citizens admitted free.

Ms. Olukals will present a modern view of an ancient craft. Instruction will be given for various knots, techniques, materials and designs for making belts, wall hangings, plant holders and hammocks. Creativity, inventiveness and enjoyment will be stressed.

Materials will be provided.

Again, please make advance reservations.

INCOME TAX PRESENTATION

An income tax presentation will be given at the Ypsilanti Center by Kenneth A. Lindow, C.P.A., who will instruct the evening workshop.

The presentation will cover 1040 income tax forms and tax filing for renters and small businesses. Included will be an explanation of basic concepts such as tax exemptions and deductions for child care, retirement income credit, capital gain, etc.

The workshop will be held Feb. 6 from 7 - 9 p.m. Fee is $5. Senior citizens are admitted free. Advance registrations may be made by calling 482-2230.

Kiwanis, Rec. Dept. to sponsor senior citizen discount cards

The Belleville Kiwanis Club and the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department announce instigation of a Golden Years Citizens Discount Program.

Belleville Kiwanians have begun their drive to contact local merchants — soliciting their participation in the program. The drive, which began Jan. 31, will run through Feb. 14.

Merchants will be asked to give senior citizens, bearing Golden Years Discount cards, a discount on merchandise or services rendered.

Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department will be registering senior citizens for the program starting in March. Each senior will be given an identification card with his or her picture on it for a nominal fee.

The Golden Years Program has been a colossal success in Washtenaw County for the past few years. Both the Belleville Kiwanis and Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department are excited because a reciprocal agreement has been reached with Washtenaw County which will allow seniors to participate in both programs.

Junior Study Club readies for card party in February

The president of the Belleville Junior Study Club, Barbara Boelter, was hostess at the Jan. 18 meeting at her home on the I-94 Service Drive.

Ten members and two guests, Maryanne McCreight and Sally Boelter, were present for the 8 p.m. session. A constitutional amendment which will eventually allow an increase in membership which, at the present time, is restricted, was one of the items discussed.

The group also agreed to cooperate with the Dearborn Junior Study Club in assisting Channel 56 with its annual fund-raising auction in April. The Belleville Club will be soliciting items of value to be auctioned. Any local merchant interested in making a tax-deductible donation which will also result in free television advertising, may call Cathy Horste at 699-7968.

Following adjournment Diane Wilson served refreshments. Program chairman

Connie Etter then directed the group in the construction of fabric and dried flower arrangements which will be used as centerpieces at the club's annual card party on Feb. 15.

Members also brought many of the handmade items which will comprise the hope chest which is raffled annually. Among the contents, which are now on display at Roberts Bros. Furniture Store, are an afghan, quilted wall hanging, macrame plant slings, terrariums, dried floral arrangements and a copy of "Water Under the Bridge", a history of Van Buren Township which was researched and written by three members of the club.

Tickets for the raffle, which will be awarded in three divisions, are currently on sale by all club members for 25 cents each or five for $1. The card party is to be held at North Junior High School.

Non-card players are also welcome to participate by either bringing along their favorite table game or by using those provided by the club. Everything from Monopoly to Scrabble will be available.

Profits from the party will be added to the club's scholarship fund. The award is presented each year to a local single female parent interested in furthering her education.

Local men succeed in real estate, academics

Two young men, the sons of Belleville residents, have moved up in their respective careers and educational endeavors.

Jeffrey C. Schroeder, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Schroeder of Potter Drive, is carrying on the family interest in real estate in the offices of his brother, Tom, on the West Coast. Called the Marketplace, the business is a diversified marketing service in Orangevale, Calif.

Jeff, who was former agent for his mother's real estate office in Belleville, recently received his California license and is enjoying selling in the sunny climate.

A junior in the University of Michigan School of Engineers, Lauren Gerard Nowak was recently named to the Dean's List for the fall semester having maintained an academic point average of 3.93.

A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, Lauren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Nowak of Willis Road.

Snow storm stops sports show

Blizzard could make cagers losers

Wrestling tourneys rescheduled

The blizzard that paralyzed Michigan over the weekend left an indelible mark on high school basketball as athletic directors try to find open dates in an already crammed schedule to fit in the cancelled games.

With the exception of Cherry Hill, whose game with Melvindale was played Saturday instead of Friday, and that of Robichaud, which probably played the only game in the state Friday night (against River Rouge), all high school sports activity came to an abrupt halt.

Most coaches moaned over the unexpected four-day layoff precipitated by nearly 14 inches of snow.

However, everything was "business as usual" on Monday as clean up operations helped carve paths in the tundra to gyms.

While the swimming and wrestling meets have been rescheduled, most basketball games that were wiped out are up in the air.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association also made it clear that it will not bend its rule and allow prep cage teams to play three games during a span of seven days. The limit is two.

"It's obvious that some of the games won't be played," said Bill Hawley, Wayne Memorial athletic director. "Most of the schools had make-up games from the Dec. 8 storm and last Thursday's storm compounded the problem."

Wayne had been scheduled to meet Fordson last Friday: a make-up date for the Great Lakes 8 Conference game has not been set.

Belleville, snowed out in December against Allen Park, had a repeat occurrence Friday night. Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers will now have to fit in a "doubleheader" with their Suburban 8 Conference rivals.

Other games that were wiped out Friday night were the Thurston-Livonia Franklin tilt; Plymouth Salem vs. Dearborn; Plymouth Canton vs. Walled Lake Western; Carlson vs. New Boston Huron; and the Saturday Redford Union vs. Westland John Glenn.

All that is needed now, quipped one of the athletic directors, "Is to have a repeat performance of last week's blizzard this week, then all of us can pack up our bags and call it quits for the year."

As Michigan dig itself out of one of the worst storms to hit the state in recent years, high school wrestling teams and coaches return to the drawing boards to plan their strategies for conference championships.

Most of the conference meets were scheduled for last Saturday and, with the exception of the Tri-River League, all were wiped out by the blizzard.

The three conference championships involving local teams: The Northwest Suburban, The Great Lakes 8, and the Suburban 8 Conference have been rescheduled. The Northwest teams will get together at Redford Thurston at 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 1, while the Great Lakes 8 representatives are scheduled to meet at Wayne Memorial on Tuesday.

The site for the Suburban 8 Conference championships have been switched from Livonia Bentley to

Baby's battle for life ends

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

The voice on the telephone was subdued, the caller was obviously looking for words to report something that was very difficult for him.

"In fact," the stranger said, "I really don't know how to say it. You and the people have been so kind that I thought you'd like to know that little Tony Taube is dead."

Tony is the infant son of Anthony and Peggy Taube of Westland who a year ago came to the public's attention because he had a rare breathing disorder. The rare disease, labeled apnea, leads to a malfunction in the diaphragm — when the victim goes to sleep he stops breathing, because his lungs don't exhale or inhale.

Celebrities such as Dick Vitale, the ex-University of Detroit cage coach now athletic director, Ted Lindsay, the Red Wings general manager, along with George Gillies of the Westland Umpires' Association, and many, many others came to the aid of the Taubes.

Last July the group organized a softball doubleheader to raise funds to help foot the huge financial bill that the Westland couple incurred. Cannisters popped up and funds came pouring in.

Doctors managed to implant a pacemaker device on both sides of the infant's abdomen which would help trigger normal breathing. However, Sunday night Tony's battle for life ended.

Services for the infant were held Wednesday at St. Richard's Church in Inkster.

Though he was with us a very brief time, the infant Taube brought together many, many people who showed that they can work together for a good of mankind.

Apparently Mark "The Bird" Fidrych will do just about anything to get out of playing basketball at Romulus High. Scheduled to play on a team made up of his teammates, against a Romulus faculty basketball squad last Friday, Fidrych and the Detroit Tigers were saved by the blizzard.

Will the game be rescheduled?

"Yes," said Fred Coleman, a member of the organizing committee. "The game will be played Thursday night (Feb. 2) at 7:30 p.m. and the line-ups are the same with one exception."

Is that exception, "The Bird?"

"Unfortunately, yes," replied Coleman. "Mark has another commitment that night, therefore he won't be in the Tiger line-up. However, Dave Rozema and Mickey Stanley will be among the Tiger players."

The Thursday night game is to help raise money for the Romulus varsity baseball team and those Tiger fans who want to see their minions in cage uniforms will have to fork out $3.

Another Detroit Tiger great, Ron LeFlore, will be in Romulus next week but for a different reason. LeFlore, who is being immortalized by a colleague, Jim Hawkins in a book, "Breakout: From Prison to the Big Leagues", will be on hand to help register Romulus North Little League boys and girls for the 1978 baseball season.

LeFlore will be in the Romulus City Council chambers from 1 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, February 11.

"We telephoned Ron in Puerto Rico earlier in the week," said Peggy Paton, publicity chairman for the Romulus North Little League, "and he said he would definitely be here."

The RNLL will register boys and girls, ages 8 through 18, and they should bring along with them a birth certificate or proof of date of birth and $20 registration fee.

And for Ed Baum fans in the area, Friday night is "Ed Baum Night" at Romulus High School.

Baum, who served as the high school coach and athletic director for more than two decades, is leaving the position because of failing health.

A host of dignitaries, former students, and fans will pay tribute to Baum during halftime ceremonies of the Romulus and Alpena basketball game.

Rockets coming on strong

If there were any doubts that Westland John Glenn is for real, Coach Gordie Davis' cagers shattered them with their recent performances.

Within a span of a week the Westlanders handed Taylor Truman its first setback of the year, buried Alpena which had lost only once previously and crushed would-be Tri-River title hopeful, Melvindale.

The Northwest Suburban Conference leader has been coming on strong since the New Year and has amassed a 10-3 over-all record.

What is the difference between the 1977 and 1978 Rocket?

"Everyone is playing 'team ball,'" explained Davis. "We're looking for the open man and taking the percentage shots and it's really paying off."

And another reason for the Glenn success is the balanced scoring. In their last three games the Rockets have had at least three and sometimes four players in double figures.

That balance was evident last Tuesday when the Westlanders buried Melvindale, 74-53. Racing out in front 16-9 after the first period, the Rockets had the game all sewed up before the half when they piled up a 40-20 advantage. Using his bench most of the second half, Davis watched his cagers shoot down the Cardinals 22-14 in the third period. Melvindale came back and outscored their non-conference rivals 19-12 in the last period.

Pat McBride destroyed the mosaic Melvindale defense with his accurate long range barrage. The Glenn senior rattled the nets for 13 baskets and his 26 points, a season high, earned him individual scoring honors. Teammate Darein Armstrong chipped in with 14 points while Mitch Preston counted 10.

Alpena made the trip south in quest of fattening its 11-1 record at the expense of the Westlanders but returned North with their second

Huron humbled by Monroe CC

Shell-shocked New Boston Huron returns to the conference way Friday night in hopes to recover from a 84-56 shellacking last week at the hands of Monroe Catholic Central.

Coach Gene Smith's Chiefs will head for Airport to pick up the pieces that once appeared to fit into place.

"We played our worst game of the season against CC," said Smith whose team is now playing .500 ball (4-4) in the conference, but has a hefty 8-4 won-lost over-all record. "We just couldn't do anything right, especially in the second half."

"Needless to say, I'm very disappointed and hope we can recover," he added.

Though off to a slow start Huron was in the game in the first half after trailing 18-12 and 37-27 at the end of the first two periods.

Monroe put the game out of reach in the third period when it outscored their league rivals 24-10 to take a commanding 24 point lead into the last period.

"That third period, with the exception of Knight's performance, we looked like we were in some sort of trance," Smith said.

Knight, Mike Knight, that is, scored all of his team's 10 points in that third quarter, and he finished with his team's scoring honors and

Shining Knight

One of the mainstays of the New Boston Huron cage attack this season is senior center Mike Knight (34) who has tossed in baskets at a rate of 13.5 points per game and hauled down rebounds on an average of 18.3 per. Despite their shining knight's performances, Huron is mired in fourth place and on the verge of losing their conference title to Tecumseh, a team that captured half of crown a year ago.

Spartans turn back Melvindale

Though it was 24 hours later than expected, Cherry Hill stashed away its seventh Tri-River Conference basketball victory Saturday night.

Coach Dick McNally's Spartans beat the elements and Melvindale's delay-tactics in a game postponed from Friday night to Saturday because of the blizzard. The league-leading Cherry Hill quintet emerged with a 59-49 victory.

That victory gave them a 3-game cushion over their closest league rivals and barring a catastrophe, Cherry Hill is a sure bet to win the conference championship.

Hit with the flu bug and unable to practice for three days because of the snow storm, the undefeated Tri-River Conference leaders found the going rough Saturday night as Melvindale took a 7-2 early in the first period and retreated into a delayed game strategy.

But Floyd Simmons and back-up guard Pierre Hudson who took over for the ailing Donnie Calloway, got the Spartans moving. Simmons tossed in five points and Hudson scored four to untrack the Spartans who outscored their rivals 14-2 in the last five minutes of the first period.

Ahead 16-9 after the first period, Cherry Hill increased its vantage point by 14 as the Spartans strolled off the floor at halftime garnering a 30-16 lead.

"I thought we were sluggish," said Coach Dick McNally. "Some of our players had the flu and the three days we couldn't practice because of the storm didn't help any," McNally continued. "The positive thing about all of this is that we did win the ball game."

Atop of the conference mountain, Cherry Hill needs only one more victory to sew up at least half of the

Is Canton concealing some cage secrets?

Livonia Bentley cage fans should get out a search warrant every time Casey Cavel and his gang of cagers come to town. Cavel is apparently concealing some very important information about the Livonians that no one in the area has.

Considered a fluke by some when Canton edged Bentley 61-60 in the first round, the Chiefs did it again to the Suburban 8 Conference leaders last week, beating their non-league giants, 59-48.

Bentley has only two losses on its record this year and those two were pinned on it by the Chiefs.

"We obviously have something over them," said Cavel who added that he couldn't pinpoint what it was. "But, our strategy against them was to try to limit their big men, keeping them on the outside as much as possible."

"We didn't think their guards were much of a threat - it's their height that intimidates you," Cavel added.

Bentley jumped out to a 13-6 lead, forcing Cavel to abandon his zone defense for a man-to-man. The switch helped and while Bentley scored a mere six points in the next eight minutes, Canton's sharp-shooting guard Butch King opened up with a round of jump shots that lifted the visitors to a 23-19 lead.

The hot-shooting King and his teammates kept the pressure on after intermission, frustrating the Bulldogs with their harassing defense while King found the range from the floor. The Chiefs outscored their hosts 19-16 and 16-13 the last two periods, respectively, to deflate the Bulldog balloon.

King made 10 field goals and was perfect at the foul line, hitting on 2 of 5 for 25 points. Bentley got 17 points from Dave Stone and 16 from Eric Thorderson, but their other big man, Chris Stone, was held to nine by a determined Russ Mandle.

Shooting 54 percent from the floor and 78 from the free throw line didn't hurt Canton, either.

"I felt that this was one of our best games," Cavel noted. "We played defense the way I know we can."

Snowed out last Friday against Walled Lake Western, Canton returns to the hardwood to defend its first place Western Six Conference status on Friday when they take on a skidding Churchill. The Chiefs played out of league rival, Thurston, on Tuesday.

Happy Days

These were moments of glory for Dearborn Heights' cagers (white jerseys) who managed to break a four-game Suburban Athletic Conference losing streak against arch-rivals, Inkster. But Coach Francis McCauley's Bulldogs didn't heed the weatherman's warning Friday night and made a trip to Rouge where the reception was as cold as the weather. Above, Robichaud's Terrance Ross (22) and Aaron Butler (at left) duel Inkster's Willie Jordan (54) for a rebound. Inkster was snowed out last Friday and will return to the hardwood Friday night when they host league-leading Highland Park.

Robichaud '5' bows to River Rouge

Just when Robichaud appeared to have everything together along comes River Rouge to knock things over for Coach Francis McCauley and the Bulldogs.

Robichaud braved the worst winter storm in recent years Friday night to travel to Rouge where they found Coach Lofton Green's Panthers more than willing to play.

Unfortunately for the Dearborn Heights cagers who didn't look like the team that a week before humbled Inkster, it was a bummer of a night to play inside as well as outside. Rouge shut down the Bulldogs fast breaks and won an easy 76-48 Suburban Athletic Conference game.

It was the fifth SAC loss in six starts for the Bulldogs whose overall record was at sevened up at 7-11. Rouge is 5-1 on the league year but trails undefeated Highland Park in the league standings.

With a mere handful of fans on hand — about 50 persons braved the blizzard to see the game, Rouge jumped out in front 19-10 at the end of the first period and built up a 13-point lead, 33-20 before heading for the dressing room at halftime.

The Panthers outscored their visitors 18-12 and 25-15 in the last two periods, respectively.

"We played as if we never practiced before," moaned McCauley who pointed out that the layout of the previous week could have damaged his team's effectiveness. "We tried to run against them, but out fast-breaks didn't materialize, and defensively we couldn't keep them from the boards."

Junior Derrick Perry, a rugged 6-5 forward, spearheaded Rouge's assault as he tossed in seven field goals and made five free throws for a game high 19 points. Teammates James Ward and Harry Golden chipped in with 16 points apiece.

The best Robichaud could counter with was Alvin Carter's 10 points. He was the only Bulldog cager in double figures, but Todd Upshaw had nine and both Jonathan Bond and Mel Ballard had eight.

Before getting another shot at the league leader, Highland Park, on Feb. 10, Robichaud will have a couple of nonleague games to help iron out the kinks. The Bulldogs will meet Willow Run at home Friday night before traveling to Oak Park on Tuesday.

Hanna: 'Our best game'

Romulus surprises Belleville

Coach Rod Hanna may not believe in fairy tales but the Romulus basketball coach may have the "Cinderella" team of the 1978 season.

The rookie Eagle coach has transformed his young and green cagers into a respected bunch as an enigmatic Belleville club learned last week.

Belleville fell from the proverbial mountain, top to the valley as two Romulus sophomores Darryl Lewis and Vince Bean led the coupe de grace. Lewis poured in 21 points while Bean pumped in 15 to lead the underrated Eagles to an 82-64 victory over the visiting Tigers.

"This was our best game of the season," said Hanna who is concerned about the five day layoff caused by the blizzard. "We're playing our best ball now and I'm worried what the lack of competition will do to us."

Hanna, who had the task of putting together a team that lost key players to near communities because of a millage defeat last September, has gathered together a blend of young cagers and one senior who have compiled a 6-4 record to date.

"Fundamentally we are a sound defensive team," Hanna pointed out. "Because we didn't play in a summer league and, because we were late starting due to the millage problems, we had a lot of question marks."

"Our source of hope was our youth and it has come around," Hanna added. "I feel we have the nucleus of a fine team."

Belleville, which has dominated the series with Romulus since the departure of Johnny Long three years ago, switched defenses and personnel all night in hopes of cooling the hot-shooting Eagles. Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers came back after trailing 14-8 the first period to pull within one, 31-30, at halftime.

But that's the closest they ever got.

Romulus nursed its one-point lead and increased it by as much as 11 when Bean tossed in eight points and Lewis chipped in six to give the winners a 24-14 scoring edge in the third period. The Eagles then continued to harass their nonleague rivals in the last eight minutes, never relinquishing the lead.

"We didn't play a good basketball game," Niemi said. "We got in early foul trouble and fell behind and we took some bad shots. In fact, we hit on 22 of 79 field goals and you just can't win that way."

Bean, a 6-foot sophomore, led the Eagles on the boards as he counted 16 rebounds for the night. Along with Bean and Lewis, Romulus had two others in double figures. Richard Lewis, who was given the tough assignment of stopping Belleville's high-scoring Kelvin Patterson, finished the night with 17 points, while Herb Buckley tossed in 11. Patterson counted a modest 11 points for the evening, but, in his defense, he was fighting the flu bug all week. Herb Burrus and Gary Herndon added 12 and 11 points respectively.

A couple of Belleville cagers, pivotman Bradley McLean, and Gerald Roberson came off the bench and contributed solid performances, Coach Niemi pointed out.

Snowed out against Allen Park Friday night, Belleville now has two make-up games to play with the Parkers and one against Edsel Ford. "We'll play Allen Park on Feb. 14 and Edsel on Feb. 21," Niemi said, "but a date hasn't been set for the second A.P. game as yet."

It's doubtful whether last Friday night's game between North Farmington and Romulus will be made up, Coach Hanna said.

"Though we would like to play them," Hanna added, "they don't have an open date to reschedule the game."

In Over 30 WW Hockey League

Extra Point eludes upset

League-leading Extra Point Bar & A.C. fought off challenger 52nd Show Bar and won a thriller in the final minute of their scheduled Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League matchup.

With Ray Erickson firing a goal with 45 seconds left in the game, Extra Point managed to escape from the Show Bar icers, 3-2.

Earlier in the season, Extra Point again escaped from their arch rivals in the last seconds when Don Pettrere scored what proved to be the decisive goal in a 2-1 triumph with 37 seconds to spare.

In the latest confrontation, Norm Hanhala chalked up a pair of goals for the winners while Jerry Grubbe scored both goals for the losers.

Title hopeful Four Seasons prepared for its crucial game with the league-leader with an impressive 7-4 showing over the last place, Johnson's Carbonic, Dennis "Duck" Broge paced the winners with a hat trick and Norm Beasley chipped in two goals and recorded two assists, while John Castellone and Larry Kaifesh added single tallies.

Rick Muller established a league record for assists in one game last week when he set up Jack's Sports Center's seven goals in a 6-5 victory over Taste Freeze.

Jack's, after surrendering a three-goal lead, roared back with three tallies in the final two minutes of the game to notch the victory.

Leading the way for the winners was Corky Hays who scored four goals while John Clearwood added a pair and Paul Brische sacked a solo goal. Taste Freeze responded with John Kunz' two goals. Bill Ballon, Tom Stringer and Bob McMasters each scored single goals.

In the only other game of the evening, Broach Builders edged Huron Valley Total, 4-3, as Jerry Hawley chalked up a pair of goals. Lane Cardinal and Tom Bryan also found their way into the scoring column.

Jim Thomas accounted for three assists, while Terry Boote and Gary Wymms scored for the losers.

Games in the WW Over 30 league are played Sunday evenings from 8:30 to 10 at the Wayne Community Center and the Westland Multipurpose Arena and the public is invited.

The combined forces of the league will take on the Detroit Red Wings' Oldtimers at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 24 at the Westland Arena. Tickets are on sale at $2.50 for adults and $1 for students and children.

Grissom's world

Fishing partners

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

Without a doubt the most important aspect of fishing enjoyment is the selection of a fishing buddy. The requirements for this association are more stringent than for any other association that you will ever make. They will vary depending upon your particular style of fishing.

For a total fisherman, as I consider myself, the requirements are somewhat more strict than would be required for a Special Forces unit. The tortures that a dedicated fisherman subjects himself to would be considered insane by someone less dedicated.

You must be able to stand for long periods of time in ice cold water while small ice floes bang into your legs.

You must be able to plan future steelhead trips while your body shivers uncontrollably from the trip you're on.

You must be able to sit for long hours staring at a four inch hole in the ice while waiting for a perch to bite, and convince yourself that you're having a real good time.

You must be able to consume large quantities of coffee; drunk to keep awake while driving back home from exhausting trips north.

You have to be able to sit for long hours in a boat and believe that a fish will hit at any moment. Then when they don't, you must be able to convince yourself that they will next time.

You must be able to withstand the ridicule of non-fishermen. People that suspect that perhaps, because of your total devotion to your sport, you are one brick short of the number that it takes to make up a load.

The insane qualifications can go on and on. They don't make any sense to anyone who isn't looking for the same qualifications. I'm fortunate. I've found two friends with who I can fish, Buck Ryder and Lance Hinatsu. Both consider fishing one of the most important aspects of life. I know that I consider fishing important. If questioned as to which was most important — fishing or breathing — I would have to stop and think about it for a while.

What ever your style of fishing — Be sure your fishing partner fishes the same way as you or you won't be able to get the maximum enjoyment from it.

Fishing Hints — The cleaning of fish has to be the only unpleasant aspect of fishing. The actual cleaning isn't that unpleasant, but the fish smell on your hands afterwards is. I've tried everything to get rid of the odor. Vinegar, lemon juice, tooth paste, you name it. Everything I've tried only works temporarily; in an hour or so the slight fishy smell always returns. I have found that pure extract of anise works perfectly. Just a few drops in the palms of your hands after washing them banishes the smell completely.

Wayne eyes Cherry Hill's invitational swim crown

After an absence of two years Wayne Memorial will return to the line-up of the Garden City East Invitational Swimming & Diving Meet.

And Coach Jim McPartlin's swimmers would like to come away with the title. It would be a good warm up for the Western Wayne Invitational.

Wayne beat Cherry Hill in a dual meet but, in a larger meet where the points are spread it could be different, according to Wayne Coach Jim McPartlin.

"I sincerely feel though that the championship will be between our team and Cherry Hill," Mc Partlin offered. "I can't see it any other way."

Along with Wayne, Cherry Hill and host, East, four other area teams including Westland John Glenn, Garden City West, Annapolis and Clarenceville will be fighting it out.

The invitational will get underway with the preliminaries on Friday at 4 p.m. The finals are scheduled for 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Meanwhile, Glenn gets off to a belated Northwest Suburban start on Thursday when the Westlanders meet title favorite North Farmington at 7 p.m. North is the host. Glenn's league debut last Thursday against Thurston was canceled because of the storm.

Coach Frank Higgins' Rockets chalked up a 95-80 victory over out-of-the-conference rival, Taylor Truman, earlier in the week to lift their record over the .500 mark (3-2).

The Rockets had the edge in the first places 6-5 as Bob Rankin accounted for two of the victories. Rankin swept to a first place in the 50-yard freestyle with a 24.0 effort, then came back with a 53.1 to win the 100-yard freestyle.

Loose ball

Playing "finder's-keepers" are Inkster's Willie Jordan (at right, dark jersey) and Robichaud's Ivy Harper. Harper was closest to the loose ball and managed to scoop it up before his counterpart got to it. Robichaud also scooped up its first Suburban Athletic Conference victory of the season a couple of weeks ago at the expense of the Vikings, but fell hard at River Rouge, the only game played last Friday during the "Red Alert" blizzard. Both teams will be back in action Friday night with the Dearborn Heights cages hosting out of the league rival, Willow Run, while Inkster and Coach George Thompson must contend with and are guests of league-leading Highland Park.

Ex-Franklin cager stars for Saginaw Valley State

As a sophomore at Livonia Franklin High School, Keith Blazaitis stood at 6-2 and got cut from the junior varsity basketball squad. Now Keith is a senior at Saginaw Valley State College and a lot has changed.

Blazaitis today is only an inch under seven feet and plays basketball for the Cardinals and rates as one of the best big men in the Great Lakes Conference.

From his sophomore to junior year as a prep "Blaze" shot up to 6-6 and was convinced to tryout for the JV squad. He not only made the team but at the end of the season he was named the Most Improved Player. In fact, Blaze has been named that honor on every team he has ever played.

That summer realizing his best basketball was still ahead of him, Keith worked out hard as he continued to grow.

"I grew so tall so fast, I was a bit uncoordinated. I just kept working at it. After my junior year I played in a summer league. We would practice hard four days a week and have games three nights of the week. Kevin Kasetta (a forward for the University of Detroit and a teammate at Franklin) worked with me and helped me," explained the center.

The hard work that summer paid off. In his senior year Blaze had reached 6-8 and he averaged 12 points and 12 rebounds a game in leading Franklin to the quarterfinals of the Class A High School Tournament, where they lost to Brother Rice, and the college offers began to come in.

Oakland, Wayne State, Alma and two schools in Kansas showed a strong interest in Keith. But it was Coach Robert Pratt's selling of the program at SVSC that convinced Blazaitis to become a Cardinal.

"That year Coach Pratt recruited Dale Brown (Carrollton), Bob Wenson (Dearborn Divine Child), Mark Klein (Dearborn St. Alphonsus) and me to come to SVSC because it was a unique opportunity where we could come in and help build a program that was just getting started, it was a challenge for all of us," stated Blazaitis.

In the 1974-75 season as a freshman, Keith earned his letter playing in 17 games averaging 2.5 rebounds and 1.9 points a game. The next year Blaze had hit 6-10 and was called on in 28 games and improved his statistics to five rebounds and just under four points a game. Last season Blaze was yet another inch taller and played in all 30 games, lifting his scoring average to 7.1 and rebound average to 5.9 a contest.

At the start of the season Coach Pratt decided Keith deserved to be his starting center and that has been just fine with Blazaitis.

"It was a tough decision to start Keith ahead of Mark Klein, who had been a three year starter and scored more than 1,200 points and is closing in on 1,000 rebounds but we felt we had to play the best and there was no question that meant playing Keith," explained Coach Pratt.

"There is a definite correlation between his improvement and the amount of effort he has put in. Keith has lifted weights, jumped rope and done all of the running. Earlier this week, we did not have practice but Keith was still in the gym working on different things," Pratt said.

"Keith is deserving of anything and everything he receives, that is why I was especially pleased when he was named to the All-Tournament team at the Spring Arbor Kiwanis Classic in December."

"He is one of the top two or three legitimate big men in the league and I would not trade him for any of them. Keith has good judgement and makes few mental errors," stated Pratt.

At 6-11, Keith has become a crowd favorite with his ability to block opponent's shots. Blaze leads the Cardinals in rejects with 38.

"Concentration, like all phases of basketball is the main thing in shot blocking and I want to make sure I don't draw a foul," related Blazaitis.

"Blocking a shot is the same as taking a shot. You have to time your jump and know the exact second of release so you can be at the height of your jump. The blocking motion is the same as shooting," explained Blazaitis.

However, Keith has not used his height to dunk the ball in a game like his shorter teammate Michael Plowden (Saginaw Buena Vista) does.

"I don't believe in the dunk merely for the sake of a dunk. I believe there is a larger margin of error with a stuff than if you just lay it nicely off the glass. I know the crowd loves it but I never hear the crowd when I am playing anyway," stated Blaze.

"If I took 15 layups and 15 dunks, I would probably make them all but I would be a lot less fatigued after the 15 layups," Keith said.

Keith, a Chemistry major, believes he has finally stopped growing because now he is starting to put on some weight.

Keith is the son of James and Elenor Blazaitis of 9361 Iowa in Livonia.

Wayne cagers make it six straight in Great Lakes 8

The comeback high school basketball team of the year?

It has to be Wayne Memorial. After a confusing start which included three consecutive league losses, Coach Chuck Henry's Zebras have strung together five successive Great Lakes 8 Conference victories.

Wayne, snowed out Friday against Fordson, was scheduled to meet Taylor Center Tuesday night. Taylor Center was the latest Zebra victim. Henry's troops outlasted the winless defending champ, 58-54, to pad their conference record to 5-3 on the season.

Though pleased with the victory, Henry felt the defense was lacking.

"There was no intensity on defense," Henry pointed out. He offered an explanation for the sluggish performance noting that the team was coming off of a double overtime victory over Taylor Truman.

We played in spurts and that's always dangerous."

Wayne worked its way to a 16-12 first period lead and stayed out in front 32-27 at intermission. With Richard Carroll tossing in six of his 16 points in the third period, Wayne managed to widen the gap to by 11 points (47-38) for three periods before Taylor rallied in the final eight minutes.

Carroll, a transfer from Taylor Center, scored eight field goals against his former teammates. His 16 points was high for the evening. Also in double figures for Wayne was Darnell Morris who pumped in 14 points.

Morris also contributed 15 rebounds.

Wayne connected on 45 percent of its field goals, (25 of 55), while Taylor also made 25 of its shots from the field, but took 66 to accomplish it.

Wayne returns to the league battle field Friday night at Lincoln Park and will be home Tuesday to await Monroe.

Canton gal awarded golf scholarship

Miss Nurmi is among 31 recipients

Among 31 outstanding Michigan caddies and only one of four girls, a Plymouth Canton girl was awarded a Chick Evans college scholarship by the Golf Association of Michigan.

The recipient of the scholarship is 17-year-old Linda S. Nurmi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Nurmi, 41149 Ivywood, who is a senior at Canton High. Miss Nurmi caddied at Western Golf Course and will use the scholarship to enroll at Michigan State University.

The awards, part of the National

Evans Scholars program sponsored by the Western Golf Association, were announced by Frank E. Kenney, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills, chairman of the GAM's caddie-scholarship committee.

Seventeen of the new Evans Scholars will be enrolled in the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor; 14 will attend Michigan State University in Lansing.

Each grant covers full tuition and housing and is renewable for four years, an estimated value of $6,000.

The Evans Scholars Foundation was originated by famed amateur golfer Charles "Chick" Evans, Jr., in 1930. Presently, there are 930 Evans Scholars attending college and some 250 new awards will be announced on a national basis this winter.

Evans scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis considering caddie record, academic standing in the upper 25 percent of the high school class, and the need for financial aid.

Approximately 120 GAM-sponsored Evans Scholars will be enrolled next fall at Michigan and Michigan State, where they live in Chapter Houses managed and maintained by the Scholarships themselves.

Support for the foundation comes from the contributions of more than 90,000 golfers, including 15,000 in Michigan.

Tri-River crowns wrestling champ

Though they were undefeated in the league, Dearborn Heights' Crestwood was forced to settle for second place at the annual Tri-River Conference wrestling championships.

The Tri-River was the only conference that managed to stage their championship Saturday. The other leagues bowed to the blizzard and have rescheduled competition for this week.

Melvindale, loser to three of its rivals during the dual meet phase of the season, emerged with 153 points at the league tournament. The Cardinals were second to Crestwood in the over-all league standings. Crestwood had 149½ points, followed by Schafer (123½), Garden City West (103½), Southgate (154), Cherry Hill (139), while Taylor

Kennedy, which competed during the dual season, failed to field a team for the tournament.

The closest that Cherry Hill got to a gold medal was in the 140-pound class where Stan Jedinak lost a 7-4 decision to Melvindale's Scott Robinson.

Cherry Hill will join 15 other teams Saturday to compete in the Class B district tournament which will be held at Dearborn Heights Robichaud beginning at noon.

Tri-River Wrestling Championship Team results

1. Melvindale - 153.2, Crestwood - 149½, 3. Schafer - 123½, 4. Garden City West - 103½, 5. Southgate - 154.6, Cherry Hill - 139.7, Taylor Kennedy - Didn't field a team.

Coast is clear

Going up for an uncontested layup is Huron's Robert Renton (52) who was the beneficiary of a stolen ball by one of his teammates during an uneventful night against league rival, Grosse Ile. Coach Gene Smith's Chiefs rocked the Islanders but came up flat against Monroe Catholic Central in their next outing and dropped a 84-56 decision. They'll be back in action at Airport Friday night.

Districts next for wrestlers

Dearborn Edsel Ford. The tournament will get underway at noon on Wednesday (Feb. 1).

Belleville, the undefeated Suburban 8 Conference champ, is favored to retain its title, but Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers are expected to receive a lot of competition from once-defeated Plymouth Salem and the host, Edsel.

Wayne Memorial, which carries a perfect 6-0 record into the league championships, is expected to encounter resistance from Monroe, the only team to even beat the defending champs in a head-on conference meet. Monroe and Wayne presently share the conference championship.

Over in the Northwest Suburban, John Glenn is the team to beat. Coach Bob Lusk's Rockets trampled Thurston, its arch rival, to take a 4-0 record into the conference championship.

Meanwhile, the area teams are preparing to make their initial appearances this year in state competition. The district tournaments will get under way Saturday at noon across the state.

Wayne, a defending Class A district champ, will be joined by John Glenn and 14 other teams across the state at the Ann Arbor Huron tournament. The top four wrestlers in each weight class at each district will advance to the regionals and the four place winners in each of the 13 weight classes at the regionals will head for the state finals.

All district competition begins at noon. There is an admission charge of $1 for students and $1.50 for adults per session.

Along with Wayne and John Glenn, other teams featured at Ann Arbor Huron are: Ann Arbor Pioneer, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Dearborn Heights Crestwood, Garden City East, Garden City West, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Northville and Ypsilanti.

Belleville has the dubious honor of qualifying for the regionals via the Bedford Temperance district. Bedford, the host, is ranked No. 1 in the state this year and is the two-time defending state champ.

Also heading south to Bedford will be Adrian, Allen Park, Dearborn, Edsel Ford, Fordson, Lincoln Park, Monroe, Romulus, Taylor Kennedy, Center, Truman, Trenton and Wyandotte Roosevelt.

New Boston Huron, the No. 1 ranked Class B team in the state this year, will begin its quest for the coveted state title at Monroe Jefferson where 13 teams from across the state will converge.

Huron wrestlers will get a glimpse of wrestlers from Carlton Airport, Flat Rock Woodhaven, Carlson, Grosse Ile, Milan, Monroe Catholic Central, Riverview, Saline, Southgate Aquinas, Southgate Schafer, Southgate and Tecumseh.

Dearborn Heights Robichaud will host 16 teams that will be seeking district fame. Among teams that will be represented in the 14th district are: Chelsea, Clawson, Dexter, Cherry Hill, Clarenceville, Bishop Foley, Madison Heights, Melvindale, Novi, Oak Park, Pinkney, South Lyon, Warren Woods, Ypsilanti Lincoln and Ypsilanti Willow Run.

Coach Sam Ellis hopes to qualify at least seven of his wrestlers for the state regionals.

Huron humbled by Monroe

shared the game high with Monroe's Chrish Hill.

The only other Huron cager to break into the double figure scoring column was Gene Reitz who tossed in 11 points, five from the free throw.

Though Hill's 20 points led Monroe's attack, two others, Brent Masserant and Jeff Spaulding also contributed a large chunk of the points. Masserant sank 9 points while Spaulding added 15 for the winners who connected on 18 of 24 from the line.

The Chiefs made 16 of 20 at the charity stripe.

"We really made them look good with our poor performance," added Smith.

Rockets keep winning

loss of the season, 63-51.

Armstrong poured in 22 points to pace the Rocket attack, while Preston and Armstrong split 22 points between them and Ed Bates added 15.

Alpena took the initiative and shot its way into the lead 12-9 but the hosts came back and tied the score 27-all before heading into the dressing room. The Westlanders put it away in the third period as their fastbreak and defense were too much for the Northmen to contend with. Glenn had the edge 20-10 and 16-14 in the last two periods respectively.

Alpena's Kevin Anderson provided the losers with 20 points while Don Rice drilled 17.

Glenn topped a highly-rated Taylor Truman quintet 77-70 as the Westlanders shrugged off rumors about Taylor's invincibility. It was Taylor's inaugural loss for the season.

Glenn managed to pull the upset thanks to a 66 percent shooting performance from the field. They hit on 33 of 50 field goals and also canned 11 of 15 from the free throw line.

Though Truman's 6-10 senior center Keith Mitchell got his allotted two figures — he scored a game high 25 points — Glenn handled the Great Lakes 8 Conference leader's superior height, equalling it with a zone defense.

Ahead by one, 21-20, at the end of the first period, the Westlanders held on and outscored their rivals 23-16 in the next period to take a 44-36 halftime lead. Mitchell kept the game close the second half, getting help from Perry Durham, but Glenn's over-all balance sounded the knell for the downriver quintet. The Rockets stayed in front with a 16-15 edge in the third period.

McBride and Armstrong combined for 44 of the Rockets' points. Pat sank 24 on 10 baskets and four free throws while Armstrong tossed in nine from the field and hit two free throws. Preston joined his mates in double figures, contributing 14.

Scheduled to play Redford Union last Saturday the game was cancelled because of the precarious road conditions and may not be rescheduled. The Rockets will resume conference action Friday night, clashing with Thurston.

Spartans

championship. They could do that Friday when they clash with Taylor Kennedy.

Simmons and always reliable Tyrone Jordan scored more than half of the Spartans' points against Melvindale. Simmons had one of his finest scoring nights of the campaign as he emerged with 20 points to top the field. Jordan accounted for 19 points for the winners who also made 15 of 23 from the free throw line.

How long should any given part of a car last? There is, unfortunately, no precise answer. A parts life span depends a great deal on how the car has been driven and maintained. Has it had regular checkups and tune-ups? How well has it been driven? What kind of road and weather conditions has it encountered? However, an owner has a right to expect that a part, with normal use, will endure for at least reasonable mileage. If you suspect that a car part has not lasted long enough, find out why.

A huge inventory of quality parts and accessories for both foreign and domestic cars is available at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan Ave., Inkster! YBA reschedules 'Family Twosome'

Though the blizzard postponed, it didn't wipe out the Youth Bowling Association's "Family Twosome" Tournament.

The tournament, originally scheduled for last Saturday, has been rescheduled for Feb. 4 at the Lodge Lanes in Belleville, according to Violet Cook.

"We would like those who are entered in the tournament to know that they should show up at the same time they were supposed to," Miss Cook said. "If they have any questions they can contact me." Miss Cook can be reached at the bowling lanes by telephoning 697-8997.

Buy a Home Now and Save

The average price of an existing one-family house in Wayne County is increasing at a rate slightly faster than the rate of inflation. And the price of new houses is increasing at a much faster rate.

That's why investing in a home today is probably the most sensible way to fight inflation.

For instance, if you buy a home or condominium now at $200 per month, your payments will remain constant over the years — even as your income increases. So ten to 20 years from now your house payments will be what they are today.

So come take a tour through the real estate section of this week's paper and get a spectacular view of what's happening in this areas house market.
